PUTTING ON THE SCREWS.

Take notice! No Republican newspaper that dares to criticize the policy of the Administration is hereafter to have any part of the Government advertising. The decree has gone forth, and the work of expurgation is already begun. The New York Evening Post, itself a sufferer for conscience sake, thus announces the fact:

PRESIDENTIAL BALM FOR THE LOUISIANA WOUND.

After waiting a week for "official information" from Louisiana, the President and his Cabinet yesterday promulgated their first official measure in response to the storm of indignation which has been beating upon them from the people. It consisted of—not the recall of Lieutenant General Sheridan, nor even the disavowal of Kullback, but it was something more characteristic.

As a remedy for the public grievances concerning Louisiana it seems that the President and Cabinet have been engaged for a week in examining the list of journals in which "Government advertisements" have heretofore been published, and expurgating it of all which have denounced the Federal military usurpations in New Orleans. In the city of New York the Evening Post has been put into the "disloyal" category, and it is solemnly adjudged that all the "Government advertising" which is done hereafter in this community during the Administration of President Grant shall be done in the Graphic and Commercial Advertiser. The Republic would doubtless be added, but alas! it is dead.

AFRICAN KING'S CURE FOR TOOTHACHE.— A correspondent at Cape Coast Castle, writing on the 15th December, says:

"King Bley still holds his position within his stockade, but is rather short of provisions. His majesty has a most valuable acquisition in the shape of a secretary who can actually read and write. The letters of this official to the different commanding officers of the British men-of-war are worthy of study. I attach a specimen or two: "Dear and honorable Commander:— Your shell goes to good point to-morrow (i. e., yesterday), and kill much enemy. I send you 6 fowl for officer to eat, and hope your health good, and bless your majesty, my dear and un-doubtful commander your servant King Bley. Please send me piece pork and bottle of rum." "Dear Commander—I hope your health good. My spit tell me enemy still in bush. I have bad toothache, so please send me piece of pork and bottle of rum, particular rum, as my toothache very bad. Your humble servant King Bley." Upon receiving the rum along his majesty writes: "Dear and noble Commander your Majesty—I am sorry you send me the pork as my toothache much worse this day. You think pork bad for toothache, please send me more bottle rum. Your servant King Bley."

ITALIAN STREET SINGERS.—A correspondent writing from Naples says: "The Italians inhabit a love of music from their earliest infancy, and there seems to be no influence in the atmosphere which inspires them to the love of harmony and sweet sounds. While I am writing these lines, under my window, by the light of the stars alone, are grouped a rude band of five male musicians; one is playing upon the violin, another upon the harp and a third is performing upon the flageolet, while the other two are singing. Their rich voices would make their fortunes in America upon the lyric stage. I have rarely heard the role of Figaro, in the "Barber of Seville," better sung than is now being done in the street below, for which an English shilling will be considered ample remuneration. Every native of the middle class performs upon some musical instrument, and they are universal vocalists.
One often stops with surprise, as well as pleasure, to listen to muleteers upon the road, singing in clear, superb tones the familiar air of an opera, without a false note or cadence, and all with the most careless sang froid and thought-lessness.

At the annual meet of the trustees of the Virginia Department of the Life Association of America, held in Richmond the other day, it was shown by the report that the money annually sent from the city of Richmond compounded at six per cent. interest would in half a century exceed $30,000,000—more than the present taxable wealth of the city. The report also gives some interesting statistics concerning the value of taxable property in Virginia, Richmond, and Boston—viz: In 1874 the city of Boston was worth more than the taxable value of all the real and personal property in Old Virginia in 1860, including the value of slaves under twelve years of age and other property not taxed. The city of Boston in 1874, excluding a large amount of property not taxed, was worth $748,000,000. At the present rate in 1920 $79,000,000 it will be worth in 1920 $79,000,000 what Boston was worth in 1835—forty years ago.

CONFEDERATE DEAD.—The care of the graves of the Confederate dead in and about the District of Columbia having been an object of solicitude, repeated suggestions and proliferous gatherings took definite shape on Wednesday in a meeting held in Washington, which was called to order by Rev. J. H. Averett, pastor of Grace, Episcopal Church, Montgomery county, Maryland, who stated the objects of the meeting. A constitution and by-laws were adopted under the name of the "Southern Memorial Association of the District of Columbia," expressly stating its objects to be the care of the Confederate dead, and eschewing any political significance whatever; and the following officers were elected: President, Dr. A. Y. P. Garrett; first vice President, election postponed; second vice President, Charles P. Harmon; recording secretary, Dr. Wm. P. Young; corresponding secretary, Henry W. Garrett; and treasurer, J. W.
Drew.

The Secretary of the Treasury has sent to the House of Representatives estimates of appropriations required to supply deficiencies in appropriations for the service of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1875, and prior years, as follows: State Department, $23,764; Treasury Department, $264,797; War Department, $118,767; Navy Department, $13,377; Interior Department, $471,349; total, $892,056.

SIMMONS'

TAKE LIVER

REGULATOR

The Symptoms of Liver Complaint are uncommon and pain in the side. Sometimes the pain is in the shoulder, and is mistaken for rheumatism.
The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, bowels in general constive, sometimes alternating with lax. The head is troubled with pain, and dull heavy sensation, considerable loss of memory, accompanied with painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. Often complaining of weakness, debility, and low spirits. Sometimes many of the above symptoms attend the disease, and at other times very few of them; but the Liver is generally the organ most involved.
